The new premises have turned out to be a great success. The blinds have been installed, but we are still waiting on the air-conditioning. Hopefully, it won't be too long. The entrance to the grounds has been smoothed out, so it is now much easier to drive over. New signage has also been organised.

Some Bridge Info.

American, Oswald Jacoby (1902 - 1984), was one of the greatest bridge players of all time. He wrote books about various card games, and won a world backgammon championship. However, his principal interest was bridge. He pioneered many bidding ideas, including Jacoby 2NT, which is still in common use today.
